The Board of Trustees undertook a significant step toward securing the future of the Yorktown Victory Center with the decision to seek planning and construction funds for replacement of the facility, locating visitor services, exhibition galleries, classroom and event space, and support functions in one building, as well as improving access to outdoor interpretive programming and expanding visitor parking capacity. Since 2002, the board has addressed short- and long-term exhibit, building and operating issues in standing committees. Critical short-term exhibit renovations were completed in 2006 in time for the 225th anniversary of the American victory at Yorktown and the Jamestown quadricentennial year.

Museum Notes

Jamestown Settlement

Jamestown Settlement, a museum of 17th-century Virginia, chronicles the history of Jamestown, America's first permanent English colony, from its beginnings in the Old World through the first century of its existence and explores the convergence of European, Powhatan Indian and African cultures.

Location— Between State Route 31 and Colonial Parkway; adjacent to Colonial National Historical Park, which encompasses Historic Jamestowne; six miles from Williamsburg.

Exhibit Areas— The museum consists of indoor exhibits and an outdoor living-history program. The film 1607: A Nation Takes Root is shown at regular intervals daily in the Robins Foundation Theater. In gallery exhibits, period artifacts are used with reproductions, dioramas and graphics to trace events that led to the founding of Jamestown and provide an overview of 1600s Virginia. Outdoors are re-creations of a Powhatan Indian village and a 1610-14 English fort, and replicas of the three ships — Susan Constant, Godspeed and Discovery — that transported 104 men and boys from England to Jamestown in 1607. Through 2008, a representation of the 17th-century ship Elizabeth also is at the pier. A riverfront discovery area provides information about European, Virginia Indian and African economic activities associated with waterways. In the outdoor areas, historical interpreters demonstrate daily activities and technology of the 17th century.

Historical Background— The Jamestown colony was sponsored by the Virginia Company of London, whose stockholders hoped to make a profit on the venture. The settlement faced great difficulties, but managed to endure and was made economically viable through the cultivation of tobacco. Jamestown served as the capital of Virginia until 1699, when the seat of government moved to Williamsburg.

Museum History— Opened April 1, 1957, as Jamestown Festival Park, marking the 350th anniversary of Jamestown's founding. Name changed to Jamestown Settlement in 1990. New 30,000-square-foot exhibition galleries, an introductory film and revitalized living-history areas debuted in time for Jamestown's 400th anniversary in 2007. Jamestown Settlement museum was rededicated on April 24, 2007.

Yorktown Victory Center

The Yorktown Victory Center, a museum of the American Revolution, chronicles America's struggle for independence from the beginnings of colonial unrest to the formation of the new nation. Thematic exhibits and living-history programs relate the experiences of ordinary men and women who lived during the Revolutionary era.

Location— On Route 1020 in Yorktown; adjacent to Colonial National Historical Park, which encompasses Yorktown Battlefield; 12 miles from Williamsburg.

Exhibit Areas— The museum consists of a timeline, exhibition galleries and outdoor living history in re-created historical settings. The "Road to Revolution" open-air walkway and indoor exhibition galleries provide insight to the events that led to conflict between the American colonies and Britain, the war's impact on a diverse group of ordinary men and women, the convergence of forces at Yorktown in 1781, the creation of the Constitution and Bill of Rights, and the contribution of many cultures to a unique national identity. An 18-minute film, A Time of Revolution, is shown every 30 minutes in the Richard S. Reynolds Theater. Historical interpreters depict daily life of people during the Revolution in outdoor re-creations of a Continental Army encampment and a 1780s Tidewater Virginia farm. A children's clothing try-on area is available.

Historical Background— Yorktown was the site of the climactic battle of the American Revolution. Generals Washington and Rochambeau had the British army trapped along the shores of the York River, allied armies had land routes blocked, and the French navy blockaded escape by sea. British commander Lord Cornwallis was forced to surrender to the combined forces on October 19, 1781.

Museum History— Opened April 1, 1976, as one of three bicentennial centers in Virginia. A museum expansion and renovation culminated in April 1995 with the opening of new exhibition galleries. A long-term exhibition, "The Legacy of Yorktown: Virginia Beckons" opened in October 2006 in conjunction with the 225th anniversary of the Siege of Yorktown.

Jamestown Settlement and the Yorktown Victory Center are open 9 a.m.-5 p.m. daily year-round, until 6 p.m. June 15-August 15; closed Christmas and New Year's days. Highlights of 2007

Major special events, historical themes and educational programs at the Jamestown-Yorktown Foundation museums throughout 2007 commemorated the 400th anniversary of the founding of America’s first permanent English colony.

In January the Virginia General Assembly convened at Jamestown Settlement for a joint session and Governor Timothy M. Kaine’s State of the Commonwealth address. Jamestown Settlement also was the setting in January for the U.S. Mint’s announcement of the issue of gold and silver commemorative coins in honor of Jamestown’s 400th anniversary. Later in the year, NASA presented the Jamestown-Yorktown Foundation a set of the coins that had been flown aboard the Atlantis space shuttle.

On the occasion of its 50th anniversary, Jamestown Settlement was rededicated at the museum’s new Quadricentennial Plaza. The April 24 ceremony celebrated the realization of a 10-year comprehensive facilities master plan to transform the museum for the 21st century.

“The World of 1607” special exhibition, a signature event of the 400th-anniversary commemoration, opened April 27 at Jamestown Settlement. The one-year, four-part exhibition placed Jamestown in a global context, focusing on worldwide intellectual and cultural developments during the late 16th and early 17th centuries. Iconic artifacts from around the world, including a 15th-century copy of Magna Carta, were exhibited.

Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II and His Royal Highness The Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, came to Jamestown Settlement on May 4 during a two-day visit to Virginia. The royal visit at Jamestown Settlement included remarks in the museum’s re-created colonial fort by Vice President Richard B. Cheney and America’s 400th Anniversary Honorary Chair Sandra Day O’Connor and a dramatic presentation, developed in partnership with The Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, that chronicled the history of the relationship between Britain and America over the past 400 years.

Jamestown Settlement hosted a record number of visitors for a three-day period during America’s Anniversary Weekend, May 11-13. The event was the product of a collaborative effort in which the Jamestown-Yorktown Foundation worked closely with the Jamestown 2007 organization and other state, local and federal partners. Jamestown Settlement’s visitor parking area was transformed into a gateway to the three Anniverary Weekend venues – Anniversary Park, Jamestown Settlement and Historic Jamestowne. A first-day-of-issuance ceremony for the U.S. Postal Service “Settlement of Jamestown” stamp on May 11, the arrival of the Susan Constant, Godspeed and Discovery at the museum pier after sailing in the James River on May 12, and a private visit by President and Mrs. George W. Bush on May 13 highlighted weekend events at Jamestown Settlement.

Special programming throughout the weekend included music and dance performances and presentations on various historical topics.

Jamestown Settlement’s Godspeed played a significant role in the statewide commemoration of America’s 400th Anniversary, sailing to 14 Virginia ports in 2007. All three Jamestown Settlement ships were in view of First Landing State Park in Virginia Beach for an event marking the 400th anniversary of the 1607 colonists’ first Virginia landfall.

Throughout the anniversary year, guided tours and demonstrations at Jamestown Settlement and the Yorktown Victory Center emphasized a different theme each month. Jamestown Settlement interpretive programming was enhanced with guided tours of the museum’s expansive new exhibition galleries opened in October 2006, regularly scheduled demonstrations and presentations on more than 30 different topics, and new special events: “African Imprint Day” on June 2, “The 1619 Assembly: A Jamestown Legacy” on August 4, and “Virginia Indian Heritage Day” on November 3.

The 2007 Heritage Lecture Series at Jamestown Settlement featured six distinguished speakers: Museum Director Peter Armstrong of the Royal Armouries in Leeds on May 20; Joseph Miller of the University of Virginia on June 2; presidential historian and Pulitzer Prize-winning author Doris Kearns Goodwin on August 4; History Pulitzer Prize winner Jack Rakove of Stanford University on September 8; NBC Presidential Historian Michael Beschloss on October 6; and W. Richard West, Jr., founding director of the Smithsonian’s National Museum of the American Indian, on November 3.

The Jamestown-Yorktown Foundation continued as the leading provider of structured museum education programs in Virginia, with 2006-07 academic year service levels growing by 28 percent on site and 47 percent in outreach. Outreach programming took place in all of Virginia’s 132 school districts, and Jamestown-related programming was presented at schools and community venues in the Baltimore and Philadelphia areas. The Foundation partnered with WCVE Community Idea Stations in Richmond to complete work on a series of television and radio “Quadricentennial Minutes” and develop a series of radio minutes featuring “The World of 1607,” and with WHRO Public Broadcasting for Hampton Roads to develop an electronic classroom, Discovering Jamestown. “Quadricentennial Minutes” and Discovering Jamestown were among a variety of curriculum materials made available on the Foundation Web site www.historyisfun.org along with lesson plans, background essays and video biographies.
